CHAPTER V IONIAN OR ATHENIAN EDUCATION Let me now give an account of the Old Education, when I, uttering words of justice, was in my prime, and self-control was held in respect. In the first place, a child was not allowed to be heard uttering a grumble. Then all the boys of the quarter were obliged to march in a body, in an orderly way and with the scantest of clothing, along the streets to the music masters, and this they did even if it snowed like barley-groats. Then they were set to rehearse a song, without compressing their thighs, -- either Pallas, mighty city-stormer, or A shout sounding far, putting energy into the melody which their fathers handed down. And, if any one attempted any fooling, or any of those trills like the difficult inflexions a la Phrynis now in vogue, he received...
