RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 190 pages. Dimensions: 9.7in. x 7.4in. x 0.4in. This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1898 edition. Excerpt: . . . I. 164, 41 (the same repeated in Taitt. Aranyaka I. 9), the name Ashfapadi (she of eight syllables) means her aspect as the Gayatri metre. Now, as pada means also a word or name, the fact that only eight names are selected for the Son God shows the intention to exhibit Him as Gayatra alias Ashiapadn, He of eight names, because He ns Bhargas is the Deity of that Ashiapadi Gayatri which is the verse III. 62, 10 above quoted. Moreover the syllables of the eight names of the Son God according to the iSatapatha Brahmana amount to 22, but as they must be 24 in order to correspond to the 24 syllables of the Gayatii verse, it is noteworthy that the other Brahmana supplies the omission by adding the two syllables de-va to TJgra. So much about the eight names. Now about the eight forms. The syllables of the words expressing the forms amount, according to iSatapatha, to 2!, but, according to Kaushitaki, to 25; but if we read the latters Oshadhayo Vauaspatayat as the compound word Oshadhivanaspataayaa, the number of the syllables of the words expressing the forms also would be exactly 24. These eight forms would represent the whole universe if the waters are taken to mean the stars, the plants and trees the earth, and the food all the creatures. By these forms the Son God is shown to be Viivarupa, as He is the In-dweller in them all loving...
